

Economic Development and Justice Donor Circle 2010-2011 Grant Partners

The Economic Development and Justice (EDJe) Donor Circle promotes the economic independence and security of low-income women in California. Since its inception in 1999, members of EDJe have invested more than $3 million in organizations engaged in job creation and training, access to higher education, enterprise development, asset development and more recently policy advocacy.

California Child Care Resource and Referral Network

San Francisco

$16,000

www.rrnetwork.org

www.parentvoices.org

To strengthen and support fifteen local Parent Voices chapters throughout California to ensure that low-income mothers have the training, skills, and opportunities to take effective collective action to make quality affordable child care accessible for low-income working mothers.

Child Care Law Center

San Francisco

$20,000

<http://www.childcarelaw.org>

To provide support to working women by increasing access to affordable child care, removing barriers that interfere with low-income women's ability to support themselves and their families as child care providers, and creating materials and strategies to improve access to child care for children with disabilities.

Filipino Advocates for Justice

Oakland

$30,000

<http://www.filipinos4justice.org>

To support the Domestic Worker Empowerment Project, a leadership development project for domestic workers that will advocate for and secure better working conditions for domestic workers by winning a Domestic Workers Bill of Rights in California.

La Raza Centro Legal

San Francisco

$20,000

<http://www.lrcl.org>

To support La Colectiva de Mujeres and to achieve economic and social justice for immigrant domestic workers by creating a supportive community where women work together to obtain living wage jobs, receive vocational training and peer counseling, identify community resources and learn about legal development in immigration and labor rights while developing their capacity to be community leaders in addressing issues that directly impact them and their families.

Turning Heads Sewing and Fashion Design Program (The Women's Foundation of California)

San Francisco

$5,000

www.keepturningheads.org

To build organizational strength by developing communication and fundraising strategies to support vocational arts education program, entrepreneurship training and employment opportunities targeting low-income young women of color in San Francisco.